KENTUCKY MIGHT HAVE TURNED TIDE

In Favor of South, If She Had Succeeded. Dr. Shortridge Tells Historical Society

(By Associated Press)
Iowa City, Ia., May 11—Had Kentucky joined the seceding states "there would probably have been a dissolution of the Union," Dr. Wilson Porter Shortridge, professor of history at the University of Louisville, Louisville, Ky., told the Mississippi Valley Historical Association at its meeting here today. "A false move on the part of the President or the Union leaders in the state would have meant that Kentucky would have gone with the lower South," said Dr. Shortridge, who compared the position of Kentucky at the outbreak of hostilities to the attempt of the United States to maintain armed neutrality during the world war, and traced the transition of the state to armed neutrality and finally to participation in the war for the union. He spoke in part as follows:

"The impulse to follow the cotton states into secession was very strong in 1860-61, and it was only by very skillful political maneuvering that this action was delayed until after March 4, 1861. Even then it required the exercise of great tact on the part of President Lincoln to keep Kentucky in the Union.

"The fact that Kentuckians were related by blood to the people of both slave and free states and that Kentucky was intimately bound to both sections by economic ties had great influence in determining the attitude of the state in 1861. The method used was an attempt at neutrality between the sections similar in some respects to the attempt of the United States to maintain neutrality between 1914 and 1917. Kentucky declared neutrality partly because public opinion in the state was not crystallized immediately one way or the other and partly because of the hope that by preserving neutrality between the sections Kentucky might act as a mediator in bringing hostilities to an end. As the difficulties of maintaining neutrality increased she passed into a position of armed neutrality. This position was one step in the crystallization of public opinion in Kentucky and the eventual outcome of the war was in large measure dependent upon the outcome of the situation in Kentucky. This fact was recognized and fully appreciated by President Lincoln.

"The question of the preservation of the union was suspended at different times by very slender threads, but perhaps none was more slender than that regarding the position that Kentucky should ultimately occupy. For that reason the story of the struggle first to maintain neutrality in Kentucky and then to bring public opinion safely from neutrality to participation in the struggle between the sections, has great importance in American history."

LIVE STOCK BODY TO HELP CATTLE MEN

New Association Plans Co-operative Measures of Benefit To Kentucky Farmers

(By Associated Press)
Bowling Green, Ky., May 12—The recently organized Kentucky Live Stock Association plans to bring about co-operation in the many varied interest of the farmers of the state, James Speed, editor of the Southern Agriculturalist, told a group of farmers gathered at the farm of S. K. Warren, near here, today for a "Breeder's Field Day." The association plans to take into membership interests other than those of breeders of pure bred livestock he said.

"This new association is widely different from the old Pure Bred Livestock Association of the state," said Mr. Speed.

"Instead of being made up entirely of breeders of pure bred stock, it will have a membership which will cover the state and bring into co-operation many varied interests. In fact, there will be a larger membership among the other interests than among the live stock people themselves.

"The bankers of the state have become thoroughly interested in the organization just as if they were breeders. This has been made possible through a resolution passed at the last meeting of the executive committee of the State Bankers' Association. The State Bankers' Association will have a member on the Board of Directors to represent them.

"The same thing will be true of the live stock marketing interests of the state. The commission merchants, the live stock exchange and the stock yards will have memberships and a member on the Board of Directors. The dairy interests, which manufacture butter to sell cream and milk to the consumer, have come into the organization and will also have a member on the Board of Directors. Of course, the Farmers' Union and the Farm Bureau will both be members of the association and have a place on the directorate.

"The railroads are also intensely interested in the whole project and though they cannot take membership in the organization, they will help materially with the field work, which will be a greater value than an ordinary membership in the association.

"The College of Agriculture and its extension division, the Commissioner of Agriculture and all of the other state agencies will actively co-operate in pushing campaigns developed by this new organization, which should come into being this summer and be ready to do definite work by early autumn. Tentative plans have already been made looking toward stock sales at eight to twelve points in the state. These stock sales will, naturally, be developed both by the breeders in the districts surrounding these counties and by the bankers who will prove of tremendous value in selling the proposition of better live stock to the farmers."

OSCAR RUCKER'S CASE POSTPONED TO 18TH

On account of several technicalities in the trial of Oscar Rucker in Judge Goodloe's juvenile court on charge of shooting Oliver VanSant to death near Bearwallow, the case was postponed until May 18th. The juvenile court law provides for proper notice to parents or guardians of children before the court and it was claimed that proper notice had not been given in this case.

Judge Goodloe assessed a fine of $5 and costs against Mrs. Laura Hopper on a charge of using abusive and insulting language to Mrs. Eva Hatton. The trouble is said to have arisen over their children. Both reside on Estill avenue.

The case of Gloucester Smith, Kirkville negro, charged with stealing two hams from a negro named Turner, was referred to the grand jury which is in session. Smith was before the court on a luncacy charge a short time ago and was pronounced sane by a jury. The evidence is said to have been that he took the hams from Turner's smoke-house in broad daylight.

FRIDAY IS HOSPITAL DAY IN NATION

On May 12th the hospitals of the United States and Canada will join in the celebration of the 102nd anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, she who made it possible for women of gentle birth and breeding to enter the nursing profession. A profession which next to motherhood has been called the noblest for women.

Florence Nightingale was born of English parents in the city of Florence, Italy, and was given the name of the city of her birth. From earliest childhood the nursing spirit dominated her. Her dolls were delicate children requiring constant care and few of her biographers have failed to write of her beautiful collic, Shep, who suffered what was thought to be a fractured leg and how little Miss Florence nursed him back to health again.

Miss Nightingale spent her childhood at Lea Hall, in England, a beautiful old place of gray stone, which stood on a hill surrounded with meadows full of buttercups and clover and hedge-rows full of wild roses.

As she grew to womanhood every advantage of family, social position culture and wealth were hers. Her father had a passion for education and saw that her fine mind was trained with a thoroughness uncommon both then and now.

Miss Nutting says in her History of Nursing, "Much as Miss Nightingale owed to her family, she was even more a product of her time."

The nineteenth, often called the Women's Century, was one of unexampled richness in strong personalities, insistent inquiring minds, protest, dissent, research, discovery and reform.

The span of her days was the time of Owen and Shaftsbury, of Huxley and Darwin, of John Stuart Mills, Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Jameson, George Eliot Margaret Fuller and the Brownings.

It was the time when the whole galaxy of strong, noble women began working for causes, reforms and progress.

Miss Nightingale began her life work by investigating nursing conditions in the hospitals of England. She was horrified by what she found. Dirt, misery and needless suffering among the patients. Drunkenness, ignorance brutality among the nurses. Sairy Gamp of whom Dickens wrote, was a typical nurse of the time. But Miss Nightingale had visions of a different type of nurse and better hospitals.

She then went to the continent where she found things different. The hospitals were clean and cheerful and the Sisters of Mercy as good and kind and capable as our own trained nurses of today. She staid at Kaiserwerth on the Rhine for a number of months and took the training which the good Pastor Fleidner and his wife, Fredrica, were giving the deaconesses under their care.

Returning to England, she took charge of a home for sick governesses and brought order out of chaos. Soon after came the call for her great work in the Crimea which is well known to every student of English history.

After the war, the English people made her a present of fifty thousand pounds with the grateful thanks of the nation. But she declined to accept it and asked that it might be used to establish a training school for nurses, which was done at St. Thomas Hospital, in London, the first training school for nurses.

A few years later the first training school in the United States was established at Bellevue, New York City, and now there is no city of any importance that has not a hospital with its training school.

OSCAR RUCKER'S CASE POSTPONED TO 18TH

On account of several technicalities in the trial of Oscar Rucker in Judge Goodloe's juvenile court on charge of shooting Oliver VanSant to death near Bearwallow, the case was postponed until May 18th. The juvenile court law provides for proper notice to parents or guardians of children before the court and it was claimed that proper notice had not been given in this case.

Judge Goodloe assessed a fine of $5 and costs against Mrs. Laura Hopper on a charge of using abusive and insulting language to Mrs. Eva Hutton. The trouble is said to have arisen over their children. Both reside on Estill avenue.

The case of Gloucester Smith, Kirksville negro, charged with stealing two hams from a negro named Turner, was referred to the grand jury which is in session. Smith was before the court on a lunacy charge a short time ago and was pronounced sane by a jury. The evidence is said to have been that he took the hams from Turner's smokehouse in broad daylight.

GRAND JURY SENDS IN INDICTMENTS

The grand jury is still busy at work in circuit court. It has returned a large number of indictments and more are expected. Indictments have been returned so far for the following offenses:

- Operating a moonshine still.
 - Unlawful sale of liquor.
 - Possessing a moonshine still.
 - Carrying concealed a deadly weapon.
 - Possessing liquor.
 - Violating the prohibition law.
 - Grand larceny.
 - Chicken stealing.
 - Child desertion.
- In the case of Ollie Jones vs. Will and Tohe Hackett for $500 damages for alleged injuries, the jury found in favor of the defendants. Jones alleged he was struck and injured by a truck belonging to the Hacketts.

FRIDAY IS HOSPITAL DAY IN NATION

On May 12th the hospitals of the United States and Canada will join in the celebration of the 102nd anniversary of the birth of Florence Nightingale, she who made it possible for women of gentle birth and breeding to enter the nursing profession. A profession which next to motherhood has been called the noblest for women.

Florence Nightingale was born of English parents in the city of Florence, Italy, and was given the name of the city of her birth. From earliest childhood the nursing spirit dominated her. Her dolls were delicate children requiring constant care and few of her biographers have failed to write of her beautiful collic, Shep, who suffered what was thought to be a fractured leg and how little Miss Florence nursed him back to health again.

Miss Nightingale spent her childhood at Lea Hall, in England, a beautiful old place of gray stone, which stood on a hill surrounded with meadows full of buttercups and clover and hedge-rows full of wild roses.

As she grew to womanhood every advantage of family, social position culture and wealth were hers. Her father had a passion for education and saw that her fine mind was trained with a thoroughness uncommon both then and now.

Miss Nutting says in her History of Nursing, "Much as Miss Nightingale owed to her family, she was even more a product of her time."

The nineteenth, often called the Woman's Century, was one of an exampled richness in strong personalities, insistent inquiring minds, protest, dissent, research, discovery and reform.

The span of her days was the time of Owen and Shaftsbury, of Huxley and Darwin, of John Stuart Mills, Mrs. Fry, Mrs. Jameson, George Eliot Margaret Fuller and the Brownings.

It was the time when the whole galaxy of strong, noble women began working for causes, reforms and progress.

Miss Nightingale began her life work by investigating nursing conditions in the hospitals of England. She was horrified by what she found. Dirt, misery and needless suffering among the patients. Drunkenness, ignorance brutality among the nurses. Sairy Gamp of whom Dickens wrote, was a typical nurse of the time. But Miss Nightingale had visions of a different type of nurse and better hospitals.

She then went to the continent where she found things different. The hospitals were clean and cheerful and the Sisters of Mercy as good and kind and capable as our own trained nurses of today. She staid at Kaiserwerth on the Rhine for a number of months and took the training which the good Pastor Fleidner and his wife, Fredrica, were giving the deaconesses under their care.

Returning to England, she took charge of a home for sick governesses and brought order out of chaos. Soon after came the call for her great work in the Crimea which is well known to every student of English history.

After the war, the English people made her a present of fifty thousand pounds with the grateful thanks of the nation. But she declined to accept it and asked that it might be used to establish a training school for nurses, which was done at St. Thomas Hospital, in London, the first training school for nurses.

A few years later the first training school in the United States was established at Bellevue, New York City, and now there is no city of any importance that has not a hospital with its training school.

JOHN F. COHEN KILLS SELF AT LOUISVILLE

Brother of Matt S. Cohen, Formerly of Richmond, and Well Known Here

John F. Cohen, 54 years old, for many years Louisville hotel clerk, shot himself thru the temple in a hotel in Louisville last night, leaving a note saying that his act was caused by "my own weakness." He died within a few minutes.

Mrs. Jeannette Burton, telephone operator, rang the phone in Cohen's room to tell him to go on duty at the desk. Just as she did so, she heard a shot and called the police immediately. Mr. Cohen died shortly after detectives reached his room.

It was said by his friends that Mr. Cohen had been brooding over the case of his brother, Charles Cohen, who is to be tried a second time in Lexington June 5, for shooting and wounding Joseph W. Porter. Mr. Porter was receiver for the bankrupt store of Cohen. At the first trial there was a hung jury. Cohen pleaded insanity.

Besides Charles Cohen, Mr. Cohen is survived by his widow and another brother, Matt S. Cohen, former state commissioner of agriculture.

Pay Part Of It Now

In the old time school mathematics class felt it had a man's job when it was wrestling with the arithmetic devoted to "partial payments." It is so in business. "Partial payments" prove to be big problems. The temptation comes in the time of general slowing down to postpone payment of an entire obligation, oftentimes when the cash to pay all is not easily accessible. Temptation is not to pay at all.

if cannot pay all. But there never was a more dangerous course for business to pursue.

If you can not pay all of that bill you owe, pay part of it. It is the dollar that is moving that helps.

The school boy of a generation ago found that when he had mastered partial payments he had gained much confidence in his own accuracy, his systematic method of work, his ability to stick to a problem until it was solved. It is so with business. Partial payment is the surest method of reaching the stage for the red line and the balancing. The dollar that is started to work now will do the work of 10 before it quits—and come back ready as ever for new duties.

Speaking of scrapping navies,

GROCERIES, FRUITS, CIGARETTES
ALL SOFT DRINKS ON ICEEASTERN WINS
FROM U. K. SOPHS

Another foe was vanquished
by Eastern's baseball nine on the Normal field Thursday afternoon
when Hembree's men defeated
the University of Kentucky Sophs by a 6 to 4 score. Lewis was pitching for the locals. He allowed only ten hits and was especially strong with men on bases, eight Sophs being left on the sacks. Lewis also had fine control of the ball which was always wet, and did not issue a pass, hitting only one man. Besides his fine work on the box,
he helped himself out by crashing three safe blows in four times at bat.

The second was the big inning for the locals in which they made five of their six runs. In the first half of the second the Sophs scored two runs when Reifkin led off with a single to left, took second on Barnes' sacrifice, third when Welch made a miscue of Vanarsdale's grounder and scored on a passed ball. Van took second via the passed ball route and scored on Powell's double to left. Eastern got busy and scored five runs. Potter opened with a clean hit to left, took second on a passed ball and scored on Stephenson's single to right. Mainous taking third. Stephenson stole second. On Dunaway's hit to center Mainous scored but Steve was caught between home and third trying to follow. Dunaway took second and scored on Little's single.
Little moving to second when an attempt was made to cut off Dunaway at home. Little scored when Lewis beat out a hit to short. Lewis took second when Reifkin threw wild to first and scored on Short's bingle. Welch fanned for the third out.

The Sophs added two more in the third. After the third Lewis was master of ceremonies allowing only one man to reach third the rest of the way. To make the game a sure thing the locals added another in the sixth when Mainous scored on hits by Dunaway and Lewis after he had been hit by a pitched ball.

Edwards in right field was the star for the visitors. He hit the pill for three safe blows in four trips to the plate beside playing well in the field. The score:

Foxhounds Locate Still;

Hunters Come To Grief

Louisville, Ky., May 12—How three well trained foxhounds became "boozie hounds" and stalked
a moonshine still, incidentally causing the arrest of their owners, was explained by two prisoners. "We went fox hunting Tuesday night. At about 10 o'clock the dogs' heads went up.
They straightened out in full chase of something. We followed.
The dogs stopped and we expected to find a fox. We found instead, a complete moonshine still. Astounded, the hunters said they placed the still in their wagon. They were arrested while taking it to the city. They were held under $500 bond.

WINS APPLE TREE
PRIZE IN LEE COUNTY

(By Associated Press)
Beattyville, Ky., May 12—Ha-lan Quillen recently received a $50 prize as a result of a unique contest that has been on in this county since the February term of the Lee circuit court in 1920.
He set out 227 apple trees during that period.

John D. Rawlings, who set out 207 trees, was awarded second prize of $25. A prize of $10 offered by a local newspaper was not claimed.

Lee county has had comparatively few apple trees. In February, 1920, an apple show was given here. Commonwealth attorney J. Mott McDaniel offered a prize of $50 for the Lee county farmer who would set out the most apple trees. County farm agent Jones then offered $25 and the local newspaper $10.

The prizes were to be awarded on the first day of the May term of circuit court in 1922.
Apple trees have been scarce and high in price but the county agent reported that more than 1,000 trees had been set out. Only two farmers reported, however.

Woman Blamed By Her Family

Restless, irritable, nervous, excitable and exacting is the charge against her by those nearest and dearest. How little they realize the struggle the overworked wife and mother is making to keep about and perform the hundred and one duties that devolve upon her! Every hour her headaches, backaches and pains drag her down until she can stand it no longer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more women in this condition to health and happiness than any other medicine. The grateful letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have found health by its use prove it.

Delegates To C. E. Convention

Misses Virginia Hisle, Carrie Allman and Margaret Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Carpenter left today to attend the annual meeting of the Kentucky Christian Endeavor Convention at Lexington. Dr. Carpenter is on the program for an address Friday afternoon. Representatives from the Second Christian church will be sent after a teachers' meeting tonight.

Sells Mt. Sterling Property
Dr. Vardy Taylor, who recently sold his Waco property and located in Mt. Sterling will probably come back to Richmond to practice his profession. He has sold his beautiful home in Mt. Sterling and will give possession June 1st.

Probably nobody on earth ever gets such a clear perspective on an opera or film star's temperament as her long-suffering press agent, who is treated like a cross between a slave and a door-mat. But once in a long while there appears a press-agent who refuses to be harassed, and takes his troubles lightly.

Such a press agent, gay and debonair, is T. Roy Barnes, leading man with Wanda Hawley in "Her Face Values," which shows at the Alhambra theatre tonight.

Goes Farther

A can of Calumet Baking Powder will make more pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, etc. than a can of most other brands.

It lasts longer—goes farther because it contains more than the ordinary leavening strength—therefore you use less.

When a recipe calls for two teaspoons of baking powder, use two level teaspoons of Calumet, the results will always be the same—perfectly raised bakings—remember this when you buy baking powder and don't forget that Calumet is the economic buy because it goes farther.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 oz. Some baking powders come in 12 oz. instead of 16 oz. cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

FRENCH CHAMP WINS IN ONE ROUND

London, May 12—Georges Carpentier won over Ted (Kid) Lewis in the first round of their scheduled twenty round bout for the world's light heavyweight championship Thursday night.

Carpentier's victory was won after two minutes and fifteen seconds of fighting.

When the bell rung for the start of the fight Lewis rushed and got at his opponent. They clinched and the referee stopped the fight and warned both men. Lewis rushed again and caught Carpentier with a couple of lefts and rights. Carpentier held and was warned by the referee who was being kept very busy.

Carpentier tried his right and just missed one to the jaw. They again clinched and on the break away Carpentier with a right to the jaw sent Lewis to the boards to be counted out.

It was a most sensational round and a sensational finish. Carpentier was holding and hit his man on the breakaway. He was entitled to do this, but the spectators raised a clamor; there were many cries of "Foul" and the Frenchman as he returned to his dressing room after he had knocked out Lewis was hooted by a section of the crowd.

Our community has become a better place since our officers have begun the campaign against the moonshiner. Hurrah for law enforcement. Law enforcement will create a respect for our laws and our officers; provide peace, safety and happiness for our people and produce a better environment for our children. As the rotten apple will ruin the good apple, so will bad company and bad environment ruin the child. We believe that fathers and mothers everywhere love their children. We believe their wis hto see the children become honest and respectable citizens. We believe they will do their duty in helping uphold the law and give the children a chance.

IF BACK'S LAME OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Drink Plenty of Water and Milk
—Start Flushing Them In the Morning.

Nine people out of ten overlook the fact that the kidneys like the bowels get clogged and lazy and need a purifying flushing now and then to help these delicately constructed organs filter all the waste and toxins (poisons) out of the blood; otherwise there is a retention in your system of Uric Acid and poisonous matter which when permitted to remain causes pain and dull misery in kidney region, backaches, rheumatic pains, disturbed rest and all sorts of annoying bladder troubles that excite and irritate the entire urinary system, creating distress. To have strong, healthy kidneys and bladder, you simply must keep your kidneys clean and active so that they are capable of easily and normally filtering and expelling the poisons, neutralizing the acids and freeing your system of urinous wastes. No artificial drugs are necessary. Merely secure a package of Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 (tablets or liquid). All good druggists have it. Take it right after eating for a few days and your sluggish, tired out kidneys will then work with ease. It never disappoints, is pure, tastes good and for your health's sake its small cost is negligible. Ten days test will not disappoint you or druggist will refund your money. Insist on genuine. It
